Dear Producer:

It’s fall crop tour time! With what 2019 has thrown at us, it’s likely you’ll see excellent to less than great - all in a very short distance!

This newsletter includes information on a couple of crop meetings we’ll be hosting in the Meadowlark Extension District. Below is the first one, coming up this Thursday, August 22nd in Seneca, where we’ll host an informal discussion of crop diseases. The second is our annual fall demonstration plot tour on Tuesday, August 27th, west of Grantville. Additional information can be found on page two.

Finally, the Nemaha County Community Building in Seneca will be the location of a September 5th (afternoon) In-depth Farm Bill meeting. KSU Economists will share information on the economics of the ARC/PLC decision and the OSU-KSU Farm Program Decision Aid plus discussion of SCO and crop insurance changes. The meeting is free, but please pre-register for handout material online at: https://bit.ly/2MTDsTi or by contacting the Seneca Office of the Meadowlark Extension District at (785) 336-2184. Additional information, dates and locations can be found at: http://agmanager.info/events/k-state-2018-farm-bill-meetings

Time to Scout for:
Soybean Podworm (corn earworm) may become an issue, particularly on late planted soybeans, as corn matures. Control (click here) is warranted when an average of one small worm per foot of row is detected.

Disease Discussion With Doug
KSU Extension Plant Pathologist Dr. Doug Jardine will be in Seneca @ 1:15 p.m. on Thursday, August 22nd for an informal discussion of summer crop diseases.

For information on these & other K-State Research & Extension events, e-mail: dhallauer@ksu.edu or contact a Meadowlark Extension District Office.
Meadowlark Extension District
2019 Fall Demonstration Plot Tour

Tuesday, August 27th - 4:15 p.m.
Bigham Farms
1 ¼ miles South of Hwy. 24 on Douglas Rd. then ½ mile East.

Corn/Soybean weed management strategies for 2020 and beyond will be shared by KSU Extension Weed Specialist Dr. Dallas Peterson.

The tour starts at 4:15 PM. Stick around for supper at the Kaw Township Building in Grantville sponsored by Denison State Bank and Tanwater Farm & Home!

Presenters:
- Dr. Dallas Peterson, K-State Extension Weed Management Specialist
- Rod/Dan Bigham, Plot Cooperators

Meal count RSVP requested by noon Monday, August 26th.
Call (785) 863-2212 or e-mail dhallaue@ksu.edu

K-State Research and Extension is an equal opportunity provider and employer.